Supervisors open bridge repair bids, approve wind farm settlement

By ROBERT MAHARRY

The Grundy Register

GRUNDY CENTER- The Grundy County Board of Supervisors opened three bids for a bridge repair project and spoke with a representative of Mid-American Energy about a final settlement for the Ivester Wind Farm project during Monday morning's regular meeting.

The county received three bids for the C-26 bridge repair project, which was estimated at $125,000: one from Kramer and Associates of Grimes at $125,285, one from Boulder Contracting of Grundy Center $115,605 and a low bid from PCI of Reinbeck at $92,500. The board voted unanimously to table action for review of the bids, and a representative of PCI in attendance told the supervisors that Highway 175 between Grundy Center and Morrison should be reopened within the next week or two.

On another project, the D-7 replacement, County Engineer Gary Mauer plans to have his secondary roads crew complete the work (three 72-inch culverts) and opened three bids for materials. Metal Culverts Inc. of Jefferson City, Missouri, submitted the low bid at $18,172.50. The low bid received unanimous approval.

Jared Noack of Mid-American Energy came before the board to discuss a final settlement on the Ivester Wind Farm project, which will involve Mid-American paying for asphalt repairs and milling on roads where its vehicles traveled heavily.

Mauer told the board that he was satisfied with Mid-American's work.

"I thought they did a very good job. My office is satisfied with the settlement," he said.

A motion to approve the settlement carried unanimously. Noack joked that he'd be happy to work in Grundy County again, but supervisors Mark Schildroth and Chuck Bakker—who represent the eastern half of the county—told him that they were "good" for now, as both the Ivester and Wellsburg projects have proven highly controversial among residents.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the board:

- Approved the county treasurer's semi annual report, June 30 investment report and July 31 investment report.

- Approved the county employee personnel policy and the county investment policy.

'No More Honey' to perform at Clocktower Concert

By MICHAELA KENDALL

The Grundy Register

GRUNDY CENTER

Bringing a fresh take on classic rock, Iowa City-based band "No More Honey" will be taking the stage this Thursday afternoon as part of the monthly Rock Around the Clock Tower Car Cruise and Concert series held on the courthouse lawn.

A varied mix of musical backgrounds, No More Honey is a five-person band that creates an experience many different audiences will enjoy, which includes their own twists on covers plus original music.

No More Honey consists of band members Hannah Brecht on vocals; Jon Bainbridge on bass; Ben Goley on guitar; Keefe Lashway on guitar; and Matt Wagner on drums.

According to Brecht, the band came together by chance.

"Building a band from the ground up isn't easy," Brecht said. "Matt Wagner, our drummer, kind of kickstarted this whole thing with our current bassist, Jon Bainbridge, and some other former members. About that same time I was looking to get back on stage, and they were looking for a singer. After that, it took a lot of patience and searching to get the right people together. Once the five of us met up, it clicked. We began practicing regularly and now I consider these guys my close friends. The amount of talent they have makes me feel really lucky to share a stage with them."

Brecht says everyone in the band's tastes in music are so different, but as a group they figure out how to make it all come together.

She added that they're excited for their performance in Grundy Center on Thursday, and they hope locals come out to enjoy the show.

"This is just our kind of gig," she said. "We're small town people, and we love being a part of events like this. I hope we can bring even more success to it! We love to have a good time and we want our audience to have a good time, too."

The Rock Around the Clock Tower Car Cruise and Concert series is hosted by the Grundy Center Chamber-Main Street group.

The public is invited to join in on the fun at the courthouse square from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

on Thursday, August 15th. Jam out to live music by No More Honey, and enjoy food, family, friends and fun in downtown Grundy Center.

Still swinging at Fox Ridge

Women's league enjoys continued popularity

By JAKE RYDER

Mid-America Publishing

DIKE – More than a decade ago, Pat Fisher was asked by Fox Ridge Golf Course management to take over the women's golf league.

A senior administrative assistant at John Deere, where she's worked for 44 years now, Fisher knew how to work with management to get things done. Since taking the reins, the league enjoyed an initial growth spurt and participation levels have remained high, with the ladies finishing the 2019 season last week.

For the third consecutive year, 80 golfers competed in the Fox Ridge Ladies Golf League this summer. Participants are not just from Dike but also other surrounding towns including New Hartford, Reinbeck, Waterloo and Cedar Falls.

The league is believed to be the biggest in Iowa, certainly the largest for a small-town course in Dike.

Fisher keeps everything impressively well-organized from league standings, scoring information and weekly matchups posted at the clubhouse to weekly result roundups mailed to the participants.

But the secret to the league's success, Fisher said, is the two-golfer, best-shot format. The teams compete for 20 total points every week – two points to the best score on each hole, one for each time in the event of a tie and two extra points for

suspect in burglary

By MICHAELA KENDALL
The Grundy Register

GRUNDY CENTER - The Grundy Center Police Department issued a public statement last week, seeking information on the whereabouts of a man who is suspected in a recent burglary.

According to the GCPD, a warrant has been issued for 37-year-old Joshua Ray Stearns, who is being sought in connection with a burglary in the area.

Stearns is described as 5-foot, 3-inches tall and 140 pounds. He is a white male with red hair and hazel eyes.

GCPD Officer Alissa Loew says the department is continuing their search for Stearns into this week, and that anyone with information on Stearns' whereabouts should call the Grundy County Sheriff's Office at (319) 824-6933.

In addition, Loew added that locals should call to report any suspicious persons or activities, and should take the usual precautions by locking the doors and windows of homes and vehicles to prevent theft.

Loew added that citizens should not keep anything valuable in their cars in plain view.

She added that another way to protect yourself in case of a burglary is to take photos of the serial numbers for expensive electronics, tools and weapons.

"This makes it easier to identify stolen property and get it back to the owner," she said. "You can even just make a mark with a sharpie somewhere on it."

To report any information on Stearns' whereabouts, call the Sheriff's Office at (319) 824-6933.

Conrad council discusses potential new location for Darla Ubben Memorial

By ROBERT MAHARRY
The Grundy Register
CONRAD- Due to a change at the previously planned site of a memorial garden for late Conrad Chamber-Main Street Director Darla Ubben, one of the leaders of the campaign to honor her raised the possibility of moving the proposed fountain to city hall during last Thursday's city council meeting.

The area in front of the old Friday's Auto Service building, which had previously been floated as a potential spot for Ubben's memorial, has now been named the Cliff Wilson Community Memorial Garden in honor of the longtime Ritchie Industries leader and well-known philanthropist, who passed away earlier this year. Angie Martin spoke to the council about placing a fountain dedicated to Ubben in front of city hall, with the city covering the minimal electric costs and Ubben's family and friends performing the upkeep. She added that the project has been tailored to stay within the budget of what has already been raised to avoid any further fundraising. "Where can we do something for Darla that's meaningful?" Martin asked. Councilman Todd Schnathorst stressed that while he didn't intend for his commentary to be seen as a slight against Ubben, he had long-term concerns about the proliferation of memorials and determining who deserved them. "This is a very sensitive topic. I don't want this to be perceived as a negative toward her," he said. "My concern is that (in) moving forward, how do we control memorials? How do we say yes? How do we say no? How do we set a precedent?" The council ultimately tabled action and will discuss it further at next month's meeting. Tom Deimerly of Marshalltown Economic Development spoke to the council about his group's efforts and how Marshalltown stays connected with outlying communities like Le Grand,

Conrad and State Center. Some of the topics he covered included the future of the hospital and housing needs, especially for those affected by last summer's tornado, and he offered to work with Conrad on any projects where they may have a mutual interest. Pending a physical and drug test, the council approved the hiring of Jason Hines as a full-time public works employee as Nick Kitzman moves up to director to replace the retiring Bruce Marble. Mayor Jeff Martin said the city received several strong applications for the position.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the council:

- Approved an engineering contract with Clapsaddle-Garber Associates for an amount not to exceed $100,000 on the Lillian Street reconstruction project.
- Approved a partial permit and temporary easement agreement with the Conrad Grove Recreation Club at a cost of $3,826.85 for the south side water main.

Iowa Crop Progress and Conditions Report

DES MOINES – Iowa Secretary of Agriculture Mike Naig today commented on the Iowa Crop Progress and Conditions report released by the USDA National Agricultural Statistics Service. The report is released weekly from April through November. "Overall, crops around the state are in good condition. Seasonable temperatures helped mitigate some crop stress in regions that received below-average rainfall," said Secretary Naig. "I'm also hearing reports of thistle caterpillars and gray leaf spot so I encourage farmers to scout their fields." The weekly report is also available on the USDA's site at nass.usda.gov/ia.

Crop Report
Iowa farmers continued to experience abnormally dry field conditions across most of the State during the week ending August 11, 2019, according to the USDA, National Agricultural Statistics Service. Statewide there were 5.9 days suitable for fieldwork. Fieldwork activities included spraying fungicides and insecticides and harvesting hay and oats. Topsoil moisture condition was rated 7 percent very short, 29 percent short, 62 percent adequate and 2 percent surplus. East central, south central and southeast Iowa districts reported topsoil moisture conditions as over 55 percent short to very short. Subsoil moisture condition was rated 4 percent very short, 23 percent short, 70 percent adequate and 3 percent surplus. Ninety-two percent of the corn crop has begun to silk, 17 days behind last year and nearly two weeks behind the 5-year average. Forty-one percent of the crop reached the dough stage, 10 days behind last year and 8 days behind average. One percent of the crop statewide reached the dented stage. Corn condition rated 65 percent good to excellent. Eighty-seven percent of the soybean crop has started to bloom, 15 days behind last year and 12 days behind average. Fifty-six percent of the crop has started setting pods, also 15 days behind last year and 12 days behind average. Soybean condition rated 63 percent good to excellent. Eighty-nine percent of the oat crop has been harvested for grain, 2 days behind both last year and average. The second cutting of alfalfa hay reached 92 percent, 5 days behind average. The third cutting of alfalfa hay reached 25 percent, 1 week behind average. Hay condition declined to 57 percent good to excellent. Pasture condition declined for the sixth straight week and rated a season low 46 percent good to excellent. There were no major livestock issues reported this past week.

Changes for city, school election on November 5

The regular school election will be held as a combined election with the regular city election on November 5, 2019. For the first time, the city/school election will use the regular general election precincts. Voters will go to the polls for this election at the same place that they vote for a regular general election. Eligible voters in Grundy County may request an absentee ballot for the city/school election from the Grundy County Auditor's Office. Requests for an absentee ballot to be mailed may be filed with the Grundy County Auditor's Office at this time through October 25. Nomination papers for the city election may be filed with the Grundy County Auditor from August 26, 2019, to September 19, 2019. Nomination papers for the school election may be filed with the secretary of the school board from August 26, 2019, to September 19, 2019. The deadline to pre-register to vote in the city/school election is October 25. If an eligible voter is not already registered to vote, he or she may do so in one of the following ways:

1. Register to vote by mail: Voter registration forms are available on the Grundy County website – www.grundycounty.org – under the heading "Where do I ...?" Click on "Register to Vote" to download a voter registration form. The completed form should be delivered or mailed to your County Auditor. Mailed voter registration forms that are post-marked by October 21 are considered on time to pre-register even if they are received after October 25.
2. Register to vote in person at your County Auditor's Office by October 25 at 5:00 p.m.
3. Register to vote online go to <https://sos.iowa.gov/> and follow the online voter registration link. An Iowa driver's license or non-operator ID is required for online registration.

The "SAME DAY VOTER REGISTRATION" law allows a person who is eligible to register and vote on Election Day (November 5, 2019) by going to the polling place for the voting precinct in which the individual resides and completing a voter registration application, making a written oath, and providing proof of identity and residence. However, this "SAME DAY VOTER REGISTRATION" procedure may slow up the voting experience for voters choosing to wait until Election Day to register and vote at the polling site. It is anticipated that absentee ballots will be available for the city/school election on October 7. This is the first day that voters may vote absentee in the Grundy County Auditor's Office for this election. Eligible voters may vote in person at the Grundy County Auditor's Office from October 7 to November 4 at 5:00 p.m. Polls will be open for the city/school election on November 5, 2019, from 7:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. All eligible voters in Grundy County will vote at their regular General Election polling locations on Election Day. Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

A look back through The Grundy Register

Severe storms rolled across Hardin and Grundy Counties Sunday, Aug. 9, leaving a trail of downed trees, damaged crops and destroyed buildings in its wake. The town of Eldora in Hardin County absorbed the worst of the damage, but crews from Grundy County were soon on the scene to provide assistance. The National Weather Service announced a severe thunderstorm warning for the counties at 10:07 a.m. on Sunday, and by 10:50 a.m., pea-sized hail was being reported near Wellsburg. At the same time, high winds and golf-ball sized hail were pelting the nearby town of Eldora, smashing windows, damaging vinyl siding and dropping trees into the street. The roof of the American Legion building in Eldora collapsed, power to the town was lost, and by the time the storm had passed, 11 people had been injured, none of them seriously. The Grundy County Sheriff's Department was notified by 12:30 p.m. of the damage in Hardin County, and they quickly began activating deputies and the fire department to provide assistance. According to Sheriff Rick Penning, deputies accompanied with a command post trailer were stationed at the bridge on the east side of Eldora to assist with traffic and roadblock duties; other deputies were sent into downtown, as officials initially believed that a house-by-house search for people might be required, although it was ultimately not needed. Along with the Sheriff's office and EMS personnel, the Beaman-Conrad Emergency Response Team (BCert), Conrad Fire, Grundy Center Fire, Holland Fire and the Wellsburg Fire departments all responded to the scene. "There were a lot of trees down, and outside of the Parkersburg tornado, it had to be one of the worst for a city that I've ever seen," said Penning, describing the devastation in Eldora. "I was amazed by the damaged windows and the siding, whether it be vinyl or steel — the hail just pelted it. Windshields and rear windows in cars were out, they were pulling campers out of Pine Lake and there was tremendous damage to the windows on the north and west sides of the courthouse." Although the damage was worse in Hardin County, where Governor Culver has declared an emergency disaster proclamation and there are an estimated $30 million in crop damages, Grundy County was not spared from the storm. According to Penning, Grundy Center received some golf ball sized hail; several streets in town saw major flooding as Grundy Center received over three inches of rain in under 15 minutes, according to council member Rex Van Wert, and there were numerous tree limbs and power lines down.

Patrick Brown, son of Pat and Kathy Brown of Grundy Center, was the recipient of the Todd M. Graves Most Valuable Baseball Payer Award for 1994. Brown was selected by a seven-member selection committee comprised of coaches, administrators, and booster club members. Brown, a 1993 graduate of Grundy Center High School, was presented with the award at the baseball potluck held at the end of the season.

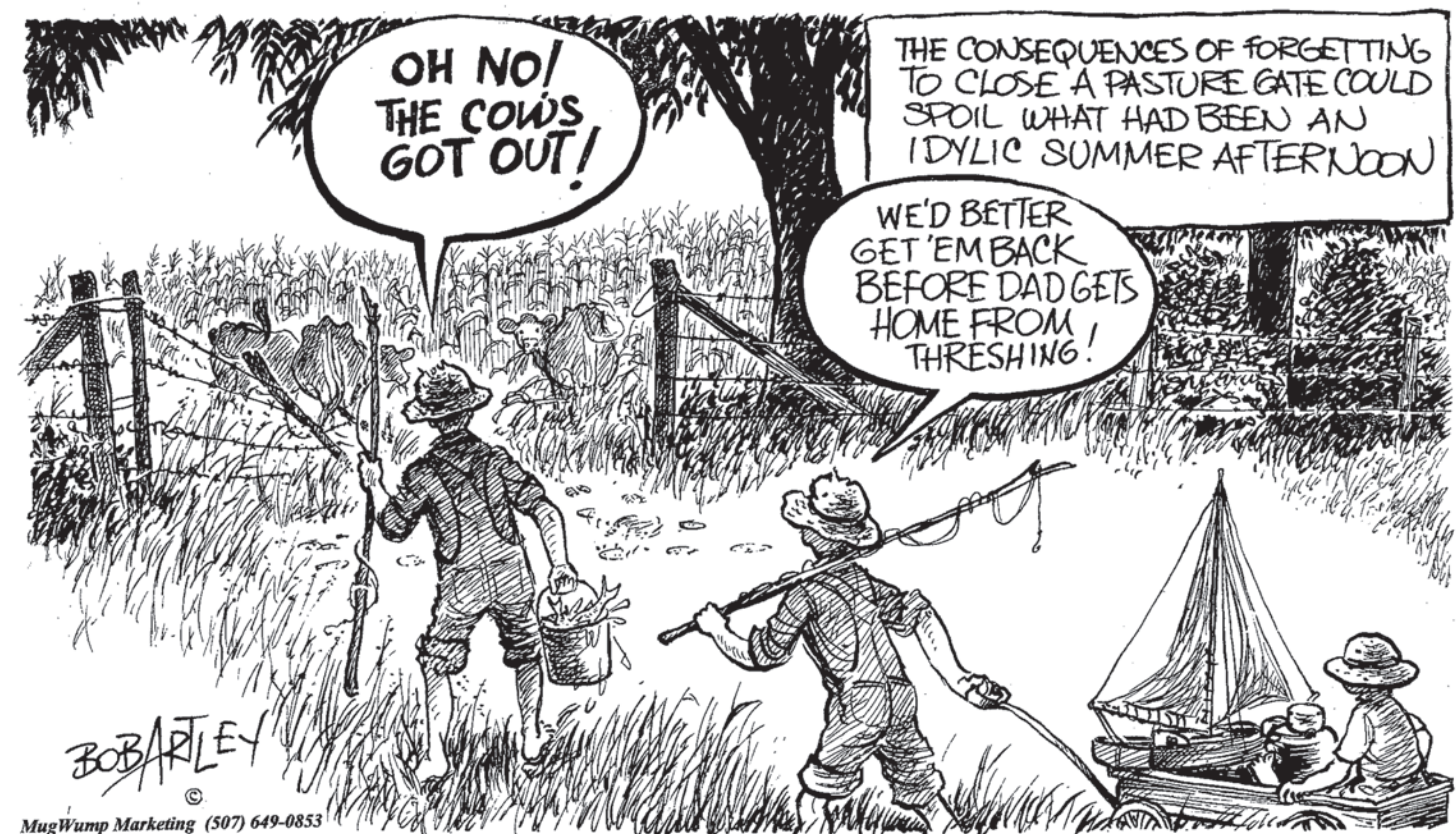

Representatives from Grundy Center High School were on the winning side of the coin at the annual Shrine Bowl held at Kingston Stadium in Cedar Rapids on July 30. The north squad, led by Greg Purnell of LinMar Marion, came out on top 28-7. Grundy Center Spartans head football coach Bob Myers was selected as an assistant coach for the North squad, along with offensive center Chad Bixby. "Bixby adapted well to his position change," said Myers. Bixby normally plays tackle. Myers said it was a great experience for both he and Bixby to play with and against, that kind of talent. All the kids on the squad, graduated last spring, with many continuing on to play football at various universities.

Three Grundy Center men died of injuries received early Thursday morning when the car in which they were riding plunged off a 40-foot washout of a bridge a half mile east of Union in south-east Hardin county. Killed outright in the accident were Richard M. Hoschette, 43, driver of the car, and Daryl Johnson, 36. The third occupant Ronald Heckenliable, 38, died later that same day at Mercy Hospital in Des Moines. Hoschette and Heckenliable were employed at the Plastronics Inc. plant in Grundy Center and Johnson was on the staff of the US Soil Conservation Service office at Grundy Center. The tragic mishap occurred at about 1:30 a.m. Thursday at a 40-foot gap in the Union-Whitten blacktop road. The washout was left after a small bridge, located 540 feet west of the main Iowa River bridge, was washed out by flood water in mid-July. There reportedly was a warning sign at the east edge of Union about a half mile from the accident, and the road was blocked by a snow fence barricade about 150 feet west of the washout. When officials arrived at the scene on the mishap the snow fence had been knocked down. It is not certain whether this had been done by the Hoschette car moments before the crash or earlier by some other vehicle. The Union town marshal; observed the car drive east out of Union - and when its lights suddenly disappeared he summoned help. The car left the road on the east side of the washout, learned some bridge pilings at the bottom of the 15 to 20 foot deep, V shaped cut of earth, and came to a halt against the embankment below the west road bed. The impact stamped an impression of the front license plate number into the embankment.

The hemp harvest in Grundy County will begin the latter part of this month, Warren Bissell, manager of the Grundy Hemp Mill, believes the crop is farther advanced than it was at this time last year. From present indications the yield per acre will be heavier than it was last year. The yields are better because the crop was put in earlier, weather conditions have been favorable and a more suitable soil was used for the hemp acres. Where last year some of the poorest land was put into hemp, this year only the best land is being used for the production of hemp.

Memories Of A Former Kid

My Three Cents Worth

My afternoon at the circus

I went to the State Fair, and all I got was a busted alternator! Some days, the jokes write themselves.

By ROB MAHARRY

Fresh off of a relaxing week at the Ozarks, I woke up at 9:00 on a Saturday morning, as I'm wont to do, eager to do something that could be considered work or at the very least generate a dumb column, so I did what every other writer in Iowa has already done or is currently in the process of doing: I went to the State Fair to people watch and listen to a few of the presidential candidates at the Des Moines Register Soapbox.

I'm a terrible advance planner and never carry cash, so naturally, I ended up driving around for 45 minutes and parking over a mile away from the fairgrounds by the time I'd dropped Kellie off in Ames and arrived in Des Moines, and it took me at least another half hour to find my parents in the scrum. Along the way, every conversation I overheard centered on politics, in the sort of infantile, stargazing way you'd expect from a bunch of millennials discussing a presidential race. A Kamala Harris bus passed us by outside of Burger King, and you would've sworn Mick and Keith had just stuck their heads out of the window with the reaction it got.

But for once, the politicians, the livestock and the novelty food items weren't the stars of the day. It was all about the maggots: black t-shirts in every direction, a Slipknot museum and a full-on shrine to the state's most famous band as it prepared for an old fashioned, sold-out mosh fest at the grandstand. For anyone who complains that Iowa is boring, monotonous and undeserving of its completely random position as the inaugural caucus state, where else can you witness young animal showmen (and women), wonks, Senators, reporters, Slipknot diehards and high cholesterol enthusiasts co-existing peacefully all in the same confined space?

Much to my chagrin, I missed New York Senator Kirsten Gillibrand (whom I dubbed "Hillary 2.0" in my critically acclaimed column series A Layman's Guide to the 2020 Clown Car), but I did get to see her walking with a scrum of at least 15 reporters while I slurped down a milkshake. It was peach and I ordered vanilla. But hey: a milkshake's a milkshake, and no one wants to be the guy who berates a teenage girl attempting to take 300 orders a minute.

So in an anticlimactic turn, the first candidate I ever got to see at the Soapbox as I finally fulfilled a lifelong dream of being at the fair at the same time as the politicians (did I mention I'm a loser?) was none other than human vampire and Joe Biden replicant John Hickenlooper of Colorado.

The former governor electrified the crowd with his big pitch that we should elect a governor instead of a senator because they make harder decisions and his admission that he initially opposed a certain law change that made his state the most popular tourist destination in the country. Both of his supporters hooted and hollered as he promised to work across the aisle on big issues like gun reform, climate change and health care—completely oblivious to reality and the last 25 years in Washington. D.C., apparently.

Senator Elizabeth Warren, whom I had incorrectly dubbed the best of the "middle of the pack" candidates in my series (remember when Beto was a contender?), took the stage next and had the best showing of the afternoon by a country mile. She addressed the struggles that the vast majority of Americans are facing to get by and her own ascendance from young mom teaching special education to Harvard professor and presidential hopeful with a typical dose of her "I Have a Plan for That" wonkery.

Increasingly, she's positioned herself as the candidate that everyone can swallow, from progressives who might otherwise support Bernie Sanders to moderates looking for a backup plan once Uncle Joe's inexplicable frontrunner campaign finally blows up like the Hindenburg 100 gaffes from now.

Senator Cory Booker, the final yeller of the day, took us all on a magic carpet ride back to 2007 when another youthful, exuberant black Senator was captivating our hearts and winning over the masses in a mercurial bid for president, but he seems to have forgotten that the sequel can rarely live up to the original. Obama's broad platitudes and hope and love mantra have given way to a naked, unrestrained anger directed at anyone who ever thought politics could be a noble profession led by a raging ball of fire in the White House, and no matter how many times he appeals to our better angels, he isn't going to snap his fingers and reverse the trend. On the bright side, Booker looks like he's been working out, and that's more than I can say for myself.

After the main speech, the real junkies head to a designated tent where the credentialed media can ask further questions, and as a casual observer who wasn't technically doing any on the clock work, I received a stern warning from a state trooper about stepping over the DMZ line into blue checkmark lanyard territory. I obliged and chuckled as a particularly intrepid reporter harangued each candidate about the big news of the day, which none of the spectators I'd encountered had mentioned at all—the suspicious death of one Jeffrey Epstein.

"ARE YOU AWARE THAT JEFFREY EPSTEIN WAS AN AGENT OF MOSSAD?!?" the man screamed as the respectable newsmen and women nearby scolded him for his tackiness. Even that afternoon, just hours after the news had hit, I got the sinking feeling that we would never actually know how many prominent figures Epstein had dirt on and how high his heinous child-trafficking ring went. His untimely demise, it seemed, was infuriating but inevitable. It set in like a lobotomy, and I decided I'd much rather track down a meal than sulk in it much longer. I'm just a no-name guy from a no-name town. What am I going to do about it?

I opted for the "Roast with the Most" wrap from G. Mig's and wondered why every candidate insists on the pork chop or corn dog when there are literally thousands of food choices, but tradition is tradition here.

A few hours later, in a deliciously karmic twist, I wound up broke down on the side of I-35 when the alternator gave out and every warning light I could imagine (and a few I didn't know existed) popped on in front of me. As luck would have it, I pulled into the parking lot of Greg Todd's air spraying hangar, and he had a backup battery on hand. It barely got me to Ames to where Kellie was, and her friend Amber was gracious enough to drive us home.

At the end of the day, I'll always be thankful for the people who are way more handy than I am, and as I wait for a bill on the repairs to my Chrysler 200, my mind keeps wandering back to a study indicating that over 60 percent of Americans wouldn't have enough money in their bank accounts to cover a $500 emergency.

Perhaps I should just worry about tracking down another meal instead.

Local Model Aviation Club to host flying day in New Hartford

By MICHAELA KENDALL
Eclipse News-Review

NEW HARTFORD - A group of local model aviation pilots - known as the Black Hawk Radio Control Pilots - will be taking to the skies this weekend, hosting two fly-in days at their club flying field on Highway T55 just south of New Hartford.

The first event will be the National Model Aviation Day fly-in from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, August 17th. During this event, visitors will be able to see all types of RC aircrafts in the air, and there will also be trainers there to teach spectators how to fly. Flying lessons are free and open to anyone regardless of skill level.

The second event will be the Warbird Fly-in on Sunday, August 18th from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Here, spectators will be able to see WWII and WWI model fighter planes in the sky.

Black Hawk RC Pilots President Neal Leeper says the annual weekend celebration and fly-ins are a great opportunity for local community members to try their hand at a new hobby. "It's a chance for people to try out flying," he said. "We have trainers here that can help spectators of any age - young or old - and any skill level learn how to fly. It's a great opportunity to spend time together as a family, too. We have a lot of families that come out and fly together."

Leeper says the club aims to host a number of public events to encourage newcomers to see if they might have an interest in remote control aviation.

"We try to do events for the public throughout the warmer summer months, so in June, July, August and September, but club members are out here at the field almost every weekend and week day during good weather just flying," Leeper said. "For our event this weekend, we just welcome anyone who wants to come see what it's like to fly different sizes and types of RC planes."

The Black Hawk RC Pilots have been a club since 1969; they used to fly in Waterloo, but they purchased 10 acres of land just outside of New Hartford in 1993, and built their new flying field there, where they have been holding flying events, club meetings and practicing ever since.

The group consists of around 35 members from all over the area: Parkersburg, New Hartford, Dike, Waterloo, Cedar Falls, Evansdale, Waverly and more.

The club meets once a month for meetings, which are held at the flying field in New Hartford during warmer months, or at Z's Restaurant on Airline Highway in Waterloo during colder months. The club meets at 6 p.m. to eat (either a cookout at the flying field, or dinner at Z's) before the meeting begins at 7 p.m. The next club meeting is on Tuesday, August 27 at the flying field in New Hartford. Guests are invited to come for the cookout at 6 p.m. and meeting at 7 p.m.

For more information - including directions to the flying field, information on the fly-in days, meetings or membership information - see the Black Hawk RC Pilots website at: www.bhrpc.org/ or email: bhrpc@cfu.net or call 319-266-2047.

Fast & Furious: Hobbs & Shaw blasts open a new door

Ever since hulking lawman Hobbs (Johnson), a loyal agent of America's Diplomatic Security Service, & lawless out-cast Shaw (Statham), a former British military elite operative, first faced off in 2015's FURIOUS 7, the duo have swapped smack talk & body blows as they've tried to take each other down. But when rebel Brixton (Idris Elba) gains control of an insidious bio-threat that could alter humanity forever - & bests a brilliant & fearless rogue MI6 agent (Vanessa Kirby) - these two sworn enemies will have to partner up to bring down the only guy who might be badder than themselves. Johnson & Statham's brilliant chemistry combined with their humor & action-packed scenes is primarily why Fast & Furious: Hobbs & Shaw stills dominates as #1 in the box office charts & has garnered an 89% positive audience approval rating on Rotten Tomatoes!

Watermelon Days Fun

How could we have been so fortunate to have the most perfect weather for our weekend fun? Those 10 sprinkles of rain at mid morning sent just a little tension to craft and food vendors and sand belt racers. Just past 10:00am the grills were smoking hot and the ice cream cone vendor stood high in the street. The track for the sand belt racers was ready and they drew a crowd for most of the morning. The inflatables were ready for the kids, Luke and family did a great job of maintaining control. Ticket sales and face painting kept the kids busy till parade time.

Food booths provided a delicious variety of choices: hot dogs, BBQ ribs, tenderloins, walking tacos, hamburgers and cookies. If you aren't the eat on the run person, seating and food was served in the community building.

While all this was going on, Shane Metz and company kept busy keeping the electricity on, blocking streets, driving the Wolverine Express, and keeping the watermelon cold along with hundreds of small and large demands put on each worker.

It is 11:00 and the new Dike Fire Station has opened its doors to the public for the first time. It was like enjoying the smell of a new car. The building is something each member of the department is very proud of. We as a community are proud of our department and their new building.

The races are done and the food booths are taking a break

just in time for the 2:30 parade line up time.

3:00 pm and it is time for Police, Scouts, Legion members, DNH band and DNH cheerleaders and teams, high school reunion classes, convertibles with wonderful excited passengers, fire trucks, business entries and several convertibles and a red one that should have had a number 9 banner attached. Tractors and farm machinery followed by remote control cars that entertained everyone with their tricks.

Then we witnessed the first pickle ball players for Dike. Pickle ball is not normally played on the move with the portable net but our new court will soon be ready for play, located at the Kruger Hemmen Sport complex.

The end is in sight and the crowds along the parade route made their way to enjoy cold watermelon. Fun continued at Slice where bag boards were in place for tournament players. The band area of Lynch's Pub was being fenced off for music and street dancing Darkness is taking over our 2019 Watermelon Day and to keep the spark in our event, we enjoyed great fire works that lit up the sky. Back on Main Street, the sound of music filled the air for dancers or it provided bedtime music for some of us.

Good night to all!

Blessed Are the Poor in Spirit

"Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."
Matthew 5:3 NIV

The Gospel of Luke's version of the Beatitudes says that "Blessed are the poor," (Luke 6:20), whereas Matthew's version says "Blessed are the poor in spirit." (Matthew 5:3) What this means is something that we should ponder. A person can be literally poor, i.e., have no money or material possessions, and yet be "rich and haughty in spirit." On the other hand, it is possible to have lots of money and other material things and to be poor in spirit. Being poor in spirit entails that we should be humble and meek, and not arrogant and proud, as great wealth, or pretensions to wealth, can make us. Perhaps Luke's formulation (blessed are the poor), is simply meant to illustrate that material poverty is the visible manifestation of being poor in spirit. Those who are materially poor realize that they are completely dependent on God for everything, from the food that sustains them to the clothes on their back and the roof over their heads. In reality, this is the existential condition of all of us, but those who trust in their wealth and their ability to take care of themselves don't realize how dependent they are on God. Being poor in spirit goes hand in hand with the wisdom of trusting in God: "Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding." (Proverbs 3:5 NIV) Finally, we should take note that this is the first of the beatitudes, and it comes with an implicit promise.

—Christopher Simon

Creativity for Change opens doors for young artists

By MICHAELA KENDALL
The Grundy Register

GRUNDY CENTER - A portal has opened in downtown Grundy Center; a door leading to a different dimension, where mutant science experiments gone wrong live out their days on Mars, seeking vengeance against humanity for exiling them to the harsh planet.

But there is no mortal danger facing locals - this is just the storyline behind Grundy Center's newest piece of public art; a mural painted on the side of the H&R Block building on 7th Street.

The mural, and the story, were created by a group of artistic, young minds who are a part of the Creativity for Change program sponsored by the Kling Memorial Library.

Over the course of this summer, around a dozen local kids from 7th to 12th grade took part in the Creativity for Change program, where they were tasked with creating public art in town and using it to tell a story.

Inspired by the Alley CATS (Community Art Through the Streets) art initiative in town, the youngsters decided to create their own mural.

One of the students involved, Kenzi Fritz - who is just entering 9th grade at GCHS - came up with the idea to create a door.

"We wanted our art to tell a story, and take people to a completely different world," Fritz said. "I've always been really drawn to art because you can use it to tell a story without words, and bring life into something that was just an idea before."

Fritz, who is also the one who created the design for the mural, says she's always been interested in art and spends a lot of her time drawing, painting and creating digital art.

"I really like anything sci-fi or magic," she said. "I'm inspired by a lot of cartoons, because they can pull you into a whole different world where anything is possible."

After the design for the mural was finished, the group got together to pitch their idea and story to the library staff and to Amanda Grineski with the Alley CATS initiative, who took the idea to the building and business owners to get the project approved.

Next, the group spent weeks creating and perfecting their mural, spending time painting together and even on their own to get it finished up.

The finished product is a sci-fi masterpiece that transports viewers into a different dimension, where mutants run loose and plot their escape from their confinement on Mars.

Throughout their summer of meeting to plan, draw and paint, the group of kids not only learned new skills and expressed their creativity, but they made new friends and gained a new energy and drive to create.

"I got to know some new people, and made some new friends," Fritz said. "It's a way for me to get out of my comfort zone, express my creativity, work with a group and bring an idea to life."

Library Assistant Lenah Oltman, who has been leading the group of youngsters, says it's been amazing to see how the kids have evolved and transformed through the program over the past couple of months.

"It's been amazing to see the transformations," Oltman said. "This program gives kids a creative outlet and a way to make an impact. With the door they created, and with their imagination, they made Grundy Center so much bigger."

Library Director Lindsey Freese says the whole idea behind the program is to give teens a space, and help them invest in the community.

"We've been working on establishing a consistent teen led program for teens here at the library," Freese said. "The whole goal of the program is to give them some ownership and a space just for them at the library and in the community, and to help them realize they can create change and make a difference in the community."

According to Oltman and Freese, the teens have agreed they would like to continue the program during the school year, and work on creating more public art in town.

"We've already got an idea for another door we'd like to create," Fritz said.

In her sketchbook, Fritz has started working on a drawing for one of the group's new ideas: a stained glass door that leads to a world overrun by plants, with green everywhere.

"I think we all want to keep going, and do more," she said.

"We're hoping to do meetings during the school year, and hopefully recruit some more people to join."

UNI's Flater ready to hone raw talent

By JAKE RYDER
The Grundy Register
CEDAR FALLS — Bryce Flater went from learning his linebacker position with the University of Northern Iowa football team to having to ply his trade in a high-stakes post-season game.

Entering his redshirt sophomore season at UNI, expectations have changed for the former Grundy Center standout. “I don’t think he even thought he’d play last year until he was in the game,” UNI head coach Mark Farley said. “This year, he expects to play, he wants to be the starter and he’s got to earn it.”

Competition is driving Flater to elevate his game, including incoming freshmen and young transfers like Spencer Cuvelier, Jackson Martens and Jesse Smith.

The Panthers needed to build depth at linebacker after the loss of starters Rickey Neal Jr., Duncan Ferch, Blake Thomas and Kendrick Suntken.

“We hope they’ll add to guys that have been here and are still young that we’re still looking for big things from,” said D.J. Vokolek, UNI’s linebacker coach. “We’re happy with this crew.”

Flater had mostly special teams work last season before playing in the second half of UNI’s postseason victory against Lamar. He got the start at linebacker in the season-ending loss at UC Davis, finishing with 12 solo tackles and five assists with two sacks across those two games.

Farley spoke about the importance of Flater executing his position before, during and after the snap as a key to making sure Flater can contribute to this year’s Panther squad.

“The competition has helped him, the knowledge of the game has helped him,” Farley said. “To be the starter, you’ve got to be in control and get others lined up. It’s not just about you getting on the field anymore. You’re the connection between the defensive line and the secondary.”

Flater said he has taken the challenges to heart and applied himself in spring ball and the early days of camp.

“There were great leaders that helped me last year,” Flater added. “Duncan Ferch was a mentor for me, and those guys made me feel like I was ready to play as a redshirt freshmen with a bunch of seniors. They just made me feel more comfortable.”

“What’s awesome is that we’re all really young, we’re always going against other guys that are always learning and it’s wide open.”

Vokolek thinks the experience is certainly starting to show.

“He knows how to get lined up, knows his technique. Miles ahead of where he was last year at this time,” Vokolek said. “He brings experience on defense and special teams and we’re looking for big things from him this fall.”

JORGENSEN IMPRESSIVE EARLY: Farley spoke highly of his two true freshmen kickers, Isaac Jorgensen of Dike-New Hartford and Matthew Cook of Cedar Falls, as competition begins at the kicking specialist positions during fall camp.

While there is still much to be figured out as to who will replace Austin Errthum and Michael Kuntz at placekicker and punter, respectively, Jorgensen was taking first-team snaps at punter in early camp practices.

That’s a lot of excitement for an incoming freshman less than 12 months removed from kicking field goals with last year’s state-runner up Wolverines team in the UNI-Dome. Jorgensen was a first-team all-state kicker last season.

“It’s a lot more intense, a lot faster-paced,” Jorgensen said. “The specialists are battling with each other to get better. We’ll be happy for whoever gets that starting spot but we’ll always be working to compete for that spot.”

“Having that camaraderie with the other specialists, getting the nerves calmed, knowing what to expect with schedules and everything has helped me relax.”

AREND'S BUILDING STRENGTH: Ellis will serve as an example for Dike-New Hartford alum Chase Arends to work toward as Arends enters his redshirt freshman season.

“Last year was a big learning season for me,” Arends said. “Figuring out the speed of the game, trying to get my strength up is what I was focused on.”

Arends is listed at 6-foot-1, 290 pounds on this year’s roster.

“I’m obviously not the biggest guy,” Arends said. “But in my mind, if I can be the strongest, it’ll catch me up.”

Though Arends will likely take another year to learn and grow both mentally and physically, he’s enjoying the UNI football experience.

“It’s a brotherhood,” Arends said. “We all come together, we’re all best friends and we make everything fun.”
